E. What should you say?

There are times in conversation when you want to be honest but you also don't want to hurt the other person's feelings. Read the examples below and think of what you should say in each situation.

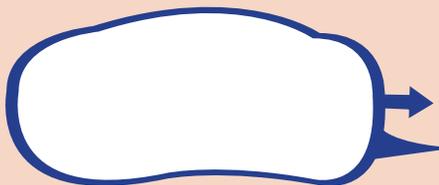

Your friend asks if you like her haircut. You really don't because you think it's too short. What should you say?

Your dad makes dinner for the family but you don't like its taste. What should you say?

You're excited for your new bike. Your mom gets it for you, but you see that it's your least favourite colour. What should you say?

Your friend is excited to show you his favourite toy. He asks, "Isn't it cool?" You don't think it is. What should you say?
